

Akelaland Cub Scout Resident Camp

Covid-19 Safety Procedures

Please note that COVID-19 Safety Procedures will be evolving in response to new information, policies and guidelines. This information is the best available as of 6/19/2021

To provide the best experience for campers in the safest manner possible, Akelaland will implement the following guiding principles in protecting campers, families, leaders and staff from COVID-19.

- 1) Screening & Prevention
- 2) Cohort Scheduling & Activities
- 3) Cleaning & Engineering Controls

Screening & Prevention

All campers and anyone staying at our camp for anything other the immediate drop off or pick up of a camper will need to complete and submit on arrival the Pre-Event Medical Screening Checklist. This is a paper form that describes the signs, symptoms and conditions that exclude a person from participating. If anyone is not able to meet all of the guidelines on the Pre-Event Medical Screening Checklist, they are not permitted on the camp property. If someone at camp develops the symptoms listed on this form they will need to be transported home.

Cohort Scheduling & Activities

All campers will have a limited amount of contact with other campers outside of their pack or cohort. Scheduling of all activities will be devised to limit the total number of individuals that you will contact. Activities that typically include large gatherings will be modified to reduce the total number of people each individual is exposed to.

Campers will receive a colored wristband to indicate their cohort. Packs with same colored wristbands will always be scheduled together. If a program or activity includes Scouts from different cohorts, they should keep additional distance between themselves and other Scouts with different colored wristbands.

Cleaning & Engineering Controls

Common use areas will be subject to additional cleaning and sanitation using proper equipment and trained personnel. Mask use will follow the current state guidelines at the time of camp.

Campsites will be sanitized as needed. Campsites and tents may be divided by units based on the relationships within their unit in any method permissible under the Guide to Safe Scouting. You may use our tents, bring your own tents or use a combination of both. There are no longer restrictions on unrelated people tenting together except those in the Guide to Safe Scouting.

Units will be organized into quadrants by cohort for meals in the dining hall. If a unit does not feel comfortable eating inside, they may request to eat in the dining hall open air porch or another nearby covered area.
